X. Comments:
1. In which areas could the supervisee(s) have been more adequately prepared?
	The variability of clients needs related to the strict constructs of theory; All supervisees were motivated to conduct/facilitate groups; however did not have a wealth of knowledge about group dynamics; Agency's non-clinical (indirect hours) needs; Self-care, techniques, career counseling; I think that there could have been a bit more emphasis on the role that the environment plays on the way a child is presenting but they caught on quickly.
2. What are the areas where the supervisee(s) were exceptionally prepared?

	Very professional in appearance and interaction with residents and staff here at Lambeth House; Always prepared to engage with clients. Most were able to move towards meeting with consumers for individual sessions. Very well trained on theory and counseling techniques; Intake preparations; Organizational skills, attitude, genuine caring for and interest in clients and groups; theory, multicultural, ethics; all; have worked with interns from various programs in the city and I have to say that the ones from Loyola were the most prepared clinically.
